

ABSTRACT

An improved automatic hook apparatus that deploys upon the application of generally opposing, lateral, inward forces generated by the inside of a fish mouth and/or throat. The apparatus may be manually placed in a cocked position and then released upon the application of the two 5 opposing, lateral, inward forces such that a fish may be hooked without the necessity of a fisherman manually setting the hook in the fish's mouth.

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25